A Great Big Burning Question

If you are a woman—would you risk your good name for your friend?

Would you chance losing husband, home, social position for her—just to keep her secret—when a single word from her would have saved you?

Norma Talmadge

answers these questions in the new TRIANGLE PICTURE PLAY we begin showing you today. It's a TRIANGLE kind of story, told in the TRIANGLE way.

Dorothea slipped a little way—Martha tried to help her, and nearly wrecked her life as the result of her loyalty. When you've seen

"Martha's Vindication"

ask yourself—"How far would I go for my friend?"

Then there's the new Keystone Comedy—"Gypsy Joe," with Joe Jackson in the title role, a rollicking jumble of fun and frolic with a genuine laugh in every foot of film.

By this time you know that TRIANGLE PLAYS are "Best Plays." Ask the people who have seen them.

EXPLAINS OBJECTS OF LABOR UNIONS

Secretary Morrison Lectures in the Associated Charities Lenten Course.

SEEK TO MAKE BETTER CONDITION OF TOILERS

Compulsory Education and Child Labor Laws to Improve Future Generations.

What organized labor stands for and aims at was told by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, at Rauscher's this morning. Under the title "Labor's Ideals" he delivered the principal address at the fifth of the series of Lenten talks under the auspices of the Associated Charities. Dr. A. J. McKelway presided.

Among the things that organized labor favors and is working for, Mr. Morrison named the following: Abolition of all forms of involuntary servitude except as punishment for crimes. He said the seamen's bill was an important step in this direction. Free schools and free books, with compulsory education for all children. For an Eight-Hour Day.

That a work day of not more than eight hours in twenty-four shall prevail.

Strict regulations for not more than eight hours' work a day on all state and municipal work. That on state and government works the rate of wage shall be not less than the prevailing per diem rate for that class of work in the vicinity—constituting a living wage. Relief from employment one day in seven.

Liability of employers for injury to body or loss of life. Preference for compensation by the state for injuries. Nationalization of the telegraph and telephone.

Passage of child labor laws in those states where they are not now in force and rigid enforcement of them in the states where they have been enacted.

Suitable and plentiful playgrounds for children in all cities. Vocational education in the schools to fit the children as they grow up to perform the world's work. He pointed out the practical way of training girls, whether colored or white, to perform household duties properly so that they will be trained to efficiency and economy.

Explains Some Misconceptions.

Mr. Morrison then explained some of the misconceptions regarding organized labor. He said one great misconception is that the good mechanic and the poor one get the same compensation under the labor schedule. He explained that organized labor in reality only sets the minimum wage and that the employer can pay as much more to any workman as he deserves. The minimum wage is set for the great mass of workmen, and the employer generally pays this and no more, because labor does not force him to pay a higher scale. He emphasized that strikes by labor organizations are only the last resort with private employers and that in the case of government employment legislation is the last resort.

The immigration question was also touched upon by Mr. Morrison. He said "the wage earner is helping to effect a regulation of immigration because he desires to maintain the American standard of living."

"The standard of wages for both skilled and unskilled labor in this country is the result of many years of effort by organized labor. Where an immigrant accepts work at a lower rate than the standard wage he not only takes the place of a man who has been working at a higher rate, but he assists in forcing down the prevailing rate of wage in that industry. This result carries with it a corresponding reduction," he said, "in the physical, moral and intellectual standard of American life."

No place like home, No homes like ours.

The "Homey" Homes.

There is nothing to compare with these Illinois Avenue Homes. They are the embodiment of the last word in convenient arrangement—of real Middaugh & Shannon construction—and in a most desirable location—where the character is definitely fixed for all time.

The place, the home and the price—the three essentials for consideration—are exactly right.

The conveniences we've put into these homes—in fact, the entire detail of plan and finish—raise them on a par with much higher-priced properties. Organization is capable of doing many things—and the Middaugh & Shannon organization builds reputation into every home erected. So far as appearances go we could have saved many dollars that we have put into these homes.

There are six rooms—all sun-lighted and airy—and a sleeping porch. Nobody can "build in" around you. Just at the corner is Grant Circle and one of the best car lines in town, and close by is the wonderful Soldiers' Home Park. Nothing of objectionable nor deteriorating character can get anywhere near this property.

The sample—4129 Illinois Avenue—is open for inspection—day and evening.

The Price is $4,350

—and, by the way, let us figure out to you how little the monthly outlay and how quickly the home will be bought. The whole transaction is through our office, you know.
